

Construction and Demolition Debris (C&D) Recycling Workshop

April 29, 2009
1:00 pm - 4:00 pm

Location:
Tallahassee Community College
Tallahassee, Florida

The Florida Department of Environmental Protection (FDEP), in association with the Southern Waste Information eXchange, Inc. (SWIX), Tallahassee Community College and the Tallahassee Builder's Association, is sponsoring a free half-day workshop on this important topic.

This workshop is free and is designed for contractors, members of the Tallahassee Builder's Association, local and state government officials, and other interested parties. The workshop will cover what construction and demolition (C&D) debris is, its composition, how much of it there is, how it is handled and managed in Florida, what a local C&D recycler does with this material, how much of this waste stream can be recycled and reused, how recycling C&D helps to protect the environment, and how builders/contractors can potentially benefit economically by utilizing C&D materials in their projects.

To register complete the following and fax to 850-386-4321 or send an email to heather@swix.ws
